Deborah Bial is an expert in the field of higher education administration, college success and leadership development. Her extensive experience in facilitating dialogue related to issues of access, equity and diversity--and in guiding selective institutions of higher education towards improved admissions policy--has gained her national recognition in the higher education community in the United States.

Bial is the president and founder of The Posse Foundation, a leadership development and college success organization that sends teams (Posses) of students from diverse backgrounds to selective colleges and universities.

The Posse Foundation, a national 501(c)(3), is headquartered in New York City. In 2022, its annual budget of $29 million will support student recruitment in over 20 cities and leverage approximately $168 million in leadership scholarships from its 64 partner colleges and universities. Posse currently has over $140 million in assets (which includes an $80 million endowment) and a 50-person national board. Its ten local advisory boards include over 100 members.

Since 1989, The Posse Foundation has identified more than 10,000 Posse Scholars. These young people have won $1.7 billion in leadership scholarships from Posse’s partner colleges and universities, are persisting and graduating at a rate of 90 percent and are active leaders both on their campuses and now in the workforce.

In 2007, Bial received a prestigious MacArthur “Genius” Fellowship from The John D. and Catherine T. MacArthur Foundation. In 2010, President Obama named Posse as one of ten nonprofits with which he would share his Nobel Peace Prize money.

Bial has grown The Posse Foundation from a concept into one of the most comprehensive and important college success and scholarship programs in the United States. Today it supports programs in Atlanta, Boston, Chicago, Houston, Los Angeles, Miami, New York, New Orleans, the San Francisco Bay Area, and Washington, D.C. In 2020, Posse expanded, using a new virtual recruitment and training model to double its outreach. The Foundation has also established many special initiatives such as the STEM Posse Program, the Arts Program and the Veterans Posse Program. By 2025, The Posse Foundation will boast 10,000 alumni throughout the United States.

Bial earned her master’s and doctoral degrees in education with a focus on higher education administration, planning and social policy from Harvard University. In 1999, she received a $1.9 million grant from the Andrew W. Mellon Foundation for her dissertation work, which focused on the design and assessment of a new college admissions tool that could be used in addition to traditional college admissions measures.

Bial is a recipient of the Harold W. McGraw Prize in Education and the Anne Roe Award from the Harvard Graduate School of Education. She completed her undergraduate degree at Brandeis University and has 30 honorary doctorates. She is also a member of the Brandeis Board of Trustees and the Xometry Board.
STÉPHANE BANCEL
Moderna
Chief Executive Officer

Stéphane Bancel has served as Moderna’s Chief Executive Officer since October 2011 and as a member of Moderna’s board of directors since March 2011. Mindfully Take Charge of the Stressors in your Life
Lisa Potillo-Crawley
Bucknell University - Posse 7
Julia Godinez
Mount Holyoke College - Posse 4
Walter Williams
University of Wisconsin-Madison - Posse 8
Stress and anxieties are common in all our lives. How we choose to manage our stress and anxiety is critical and up to us. It’s important to develop practical tools that help us get through hard times because the stress doesn’t stop coming. This session will highlight strategies you can use to manage your everyday stress and anxiety. It will also introduce you to a framework that can help reshape how you perceive any situation so that it positively impacts your body and uplifts your spirit.

Let’s Talk About It: How to Deal with Conflict, Microaggressions and Push-back in Workplace Conversations
Carl Manalo
Vanderbilt University - Posse 8
This session will explore how to approach microaggressions, conflict and push-back that leaders deal with on a regular basis. We’ll explore active listening techniques, how to deal with the “push-back” phenomenon and dealing with microaggressions, referencing texts including: “People Skills,” “Microaggression in Daily Life,” and “Non-violent Communication.”

Social Justice through the Arts, Entertainment, and Artificial Intelligence
Ravieshwar Singh
Vanderbilt University - Posse 18
We sometimes associate the arts and entertainment with fun and leisure, but this session will explore how to use arts innovation - including AI - as a tool for social justice. By unpacking examples including the use of generative AI in fashion, using storytelling to combat racial biases and more, attendees will have a better understanding of how art can have a lasting impact professionally and personally.

Presently Powerful
Jennifer Zhang
Trinity College - Posse 5
Presently Powerful as hosted by Jennifer Zhang is a mini-workshop on public speaking, presence, and embracing our authentic selves. As we move forward with our hybrid work lives, how can we show-up, stay in the moment, bring forth the wonderful, enriching experience that only you can provide.

Everything you need to know about Networking
Kadia Tubman
Babson College - Posse 6
Networking is no longer a dirty word. In a world with terms like “quiet quitting,” “quiet cutting,” and “quiet hiring,” networking is loud and clear. This session offers advice on networking in a cooling job market.

What’s Your Thinking Style? 3 Thinking Styles & Optimizing Time Management for Leaders and Teams
Maria Paniccioli
Brandeis University - Posse 2
Do you know your thinking style? Learn about the three thinking styles and how to optimize these styles for leaders, teams, and organizations. In learning the three styles, you will improve your understanding of others and how to boost organization and performance for teams, and enhance your own leadership. This session will focus on the dimensions of how leaders can embrace their strengths, improve decision making skills, and elevate facilitation skills for individual and organizational success.
Breaking the Binary: Gender Identity and Leadership in the 21st Century
Juan Bernabe Perez
Denison University - Posse 9
This session will explore the intersection of gender identity and leadership in today’s society. We’ll explore challenges faced by individuals who do not conform to traditional gender norms and how these challenges impact leadership. We’ll examine how diversity and inclusivity in leadership can lead to better decision-making, increased innovation, and improved team dynamics. Furthermore, this session will inspire and empower individuals to break free from the binary and embrace their authentic selves as leaders.

Metaphors and Mitochondria: My Journey as a Scientist-Poet and How You Can Design a Career That Incorporates Your (Many) Passions
Usman Hameedi
Brandeis University - Posse 1 - STEM
We limit ourselves within the boundaries of job descriptions. My work sits at the intersection of science, art, and non-profit, which comes from my previous life of trying to become a physician. In this conversation open to all professionals, we will brainstorm ways to build careers that are true to who we are, while also strategizing how to overcome the challenges that arise from these distinctive journeys.

Host A Posse (Re)Connect: Step by Step How To Eve Elie
Mount Holyoke College - Posse 3
Recently all Mount Holyoke College (MHC) alumni Posses (1-13) hosted a virtual event to engage with on-campus Posse Scholars at MHC- the Posse (Re)Connect. This was the first time an event like this at MHC took place. In this session, you’ll learn about the MHC event, and unpack insights on how to work with Posse’s alumni programs to replicate this event.

Applying to STEM PhD programs: finding your own path
Dr. Sarah Martinez Roth
Colby College - Posse 6
Are you pursuing a STEM career and perhaps interested in graduate school? You are not alone. In this session Dr. Martinez Roth will discuss her path to graduate school and a pharmaceutical career. Bring questions and be ready to engage!
The Ainslie Alumni Achievement Award is awarded each year to one outstanding Posse alum who has demonstrated incredible leadership and success while giving back to the world. The award honors Posse alumni who continue a legacy of leadership in their communities and exemplify the values of The Posse Foundation. Recipients are selected based on their potential to create meaningful, far-reaching contributions to society as demonstrated by their track record of significant accomplishment. The award comes with a prize of $10,000, which is endowed by The Ainslie Fund that was established in tribute to Michael Ainslie’s leadership as Posse’s first board chair.

2022 RECIPIENT
Dr. Sarah Martinez Roth
COLBY COLLEGE ’11

“I hope in my career to show the importance of health equity, and of analyzing disparate health outcomes in disenfranchised communities.”

Originally from Brooklyn, New York, Sarah graduated from LaGuardia High School of the Performing Arts where she studied Ballet. She earned a master’s in physiology and biophysics at Georgetown University and a Ph.D. in tumor biology at the Georgetown Lombardi Cancer Center and graduated with honors from Colby College in 2011 with a Bachelor of Arts in biology. During the third year of her Ph.D. she was awarded a National Research Service Award from the National Institutes of Health (NIH) to fund her research studying circulating DNA as biomarkers for adverse events in patients being treated with immunotherapy.

While at Colby, Sarah conducted her honors thesis research in the plant molecular Biology lab of Dr. Russell Johnson, studying hormone regulation regarding barley seed dormancy. Currently, Dr. Martinez Roth is a Senior Scientist in Biomarkers at Vertex Pharmaceuticals in Boston, MA, where she is a cell-based assay Biology Team Lead for clinical trials currently focused on treatments for sickle cell disease, a blood disorder that disproportionately affects African Americans and people of color. Outside of the lab, Sarah is passionate about equalizing the playing field by advocating for access to education. Sarah served as a PNAAC (Posse National Alumni Advisory Council) representative for Posse D.C. from 2017-2020. A regular supporter of Posse, Sarah gave the Alumni Keynote address at Posse Boston’s “The Next 10,000” event in 2021 and Posse D.C.’s Power of 10 in 2019. She has also volunteered for DAP (Dynamic Assessment Process) 1, served as a hired interviewer for DAP 2, as a career coach for on-campus Scholars and a writing coach for Scholars in Pre-Collegiate Training (PCT).

In addition to the prestigious NIH Grant and the Ainslie Award, Sarah has received several other recognitions. The National Cancer Institute conferred its Ruth L. Kirschstein Diversity National Research Service Award to support diversity in health-related research fields to her, the Broad Institute of MIT and Harvard named her one of the Top 100 Biotech Leaders of Tomorrow and the Georgetown Breast Cancer Advocates honored her with its Clarity in Science Award. Sarah credits her success to the mentors who have helped guide her and is passionate about mentoring other women in STEM (Science, Technology, Engineering & Mathematics) and improving the retention rates of women in STEM fields.
JESSICA MOULITE (2021)
HAMILTON COLLEGE ’14

Jessica Moulite is a PhD Student at Howard University in Sociology with an emphasis in Social Inequality. She is currently a graduate research assistant looking into pathways to mitigating bias for environmental justice in Black communities. Her research interests include contentious politics, revolutions, and anti-colonial movements. Aside from her academic pursuits, Jessica is an award-winning video producer whose work has been featured on The Root, BBC News, The Columbia Journalism Review, Univision News, The GlobalPost and more.

“For the newsroom to back inside the classroom earning my PhD, the lessons I’ve learned from the Posse Foundation have not only positioned me to have the tough conversations we need in order to grow as a society but also create knowledge that centers historically disenfranchised communities in the process.”

CHAKENA SIMS PERRY (2020)
CONNECTICUT COLLEGE ’16

A native Chicagoan, Chakena hails from the Back of the Yards and Ashburn neighborhoods. She earned her B.A. in History from Connecticut College in December 2015. Chakena is grounded in her role as a voting rights advocate, and since her graduation, she has acted in this role in a variety of ways. She was elected Chairwoman of the Cook County Young Democrats and now serves as Board President for Chicago Votes Action Fund. Chakena was selected as an Obama Foundation Peer Advisor.

“One thing that Posse has done for a lot of people, is give them the audacity to feel like they can make a change in the world.”

GABRIELLE FARRELL (2018)
BRYN MAWR COLLEGE ’12

Gabrielle Farrell earned her B.A. in French and Political Science at Bryn Mawr College. After completing her master’s in corporate and organizational communications from Northeastern University and serving as press-secretary for Boston’s Mayor Marty Walsh, Gabrielle was invited by U.S. Senator Elizabeth Warren to serve as press secretary for her re-election campaign. Today, Gabrielle serves as an official spokesperson for the senator.

“At every turn, there’s another Posse Scholar, and it’s incredible when we have an opportunity to work together on something larger than ourselves.”

ADRIAN LIEVANO (2017)
UNIVERSITY OF PENNSYLVANIA ’15

Adrian Lievano is the Co-Founder of Everwaters, an organization based in Kenya that develops water filtration units and provides clean water to families in the developing world. In recognition for his work, Adrian received University of Pennsylvania’s inaugural President’s Engagement Prize and was featured on CNBC’s Make Me a Millionaire Inventor television show. Adrian whole-heartedly believes that we must empower others to solve humanity’s greatest challenges and is using his engineering education to tackle complex local, national, and international issues.

“Once I became aware of the magnitude of this problem… discovering how many people drink unclean water every day, how many die from waterborne diseases each year, I knew I had to jump into it.”

LAQUAN LIGHTFOOT (2016)
LAFAYETTE COLLEGE ’11

Laquan Lightfoot, one of the youngest women of color serving as an assistant district attorney in Philadelphia, is determined to be part of the driving force that will create change and improve our justice system. Inspired to be a courtroom advocate for those who need a voice, she hopes that she will have a wide-ranging impact on the communities she serves.

“Being a Posse Scholar is a badge of honor I am proud to wear. The values that Posse instilled and the dreams Posse helped me to attain, consistently warms my heart and gives me that extra push to keep moving upward while reaching back to help others do the same.”
RYAN LETADA (2014)
WHEATON COLLEGE ’08

Ryan Letada is the CEO and co-founder of NextDayBetter, an organization that connects diaspora communities to create positive social change. In recognition for his contributions to the global community, he was selected to join the FylPRO, a leadership program administered by the Philippines embassy that selects 10 leaders nationally to collaborate with the country’s leading public, private and civic leaders.

“We all have a strong call to action to use the gift that has been given to us—this scholarship, this community, this moment—to make our mark in this world.”

CARMEN GREEN JR. (2012)
TRINITY COLLEGE ’06

Carmen Green Jr. joined the U.S. Marine Corps in 2008. He was deployed to Afghanistan in 2011 where he successfully planned the tactical communications architecture for the Regional Command Southwest. In 2012, he was promoted to captain. Carmen’s work with the Marines to help protect people around the world is a testament to his remarkable character and strong leadership skills.

“My Posse taught me that when you have the right, diverse group of people, they can come together in a way that is special and make real, positive change.”

LOUBENS THEORK (2010)
HAMILTON COLLEGE ’06

Loubens Theork is deeply committed to the progress of his native Haiti. He launched an endeavor that will use targeted investments in industries such as real estate, retail and banking to support Haitian economic development. Each year, Loubens and his brothers, also Posse Scholars, provide education funds to low-income students in Haiti.

“I strongly believe in education and in providing those less fortunate the opportunity to advance their education. I will use any resources that I have to help those around me.”

CARLOS CARELA (2008)
VANDERBILT UNIVERSITY ’99

Carlos Carela founded Cava Wine Bar & Gallery in 2007, a successful Manhattan establishment that celebrates Latin and Caribbean cuisine, culture and art. Prior to that, he was one of the first Posse alumni to pursue a career on Wall Street, working at Bloomberg Financial Markets and later as a consultant for the central Bank of the Dominican Republic.

“Posse provided love, support and a sense of understanding that you’re always going to have the backing of people that you respect and who will not let you fail.”

MIA HOWARD (2015)
VANDERBILT UNIVERSITY ’05

As founder and executive director of Intrepid College Prep Charter School in Nashville, Tennessee, Mia is serving a student population where more than 80 percent live in poverty and the majority will be the first in their families to attend college. Mia was a cum laude graduate of Vanderbilt University and University of Pennsylvania Law School, and she holds a certificate in business and public policy from the Wharton School.

“I have adopted a personal and professional mission to ensure young people graduate from college and exit prepared to not just find opportunities, but to also create those opportunities where needed. To not just name problems but to solve them. Most importantly, we teach our students how to solve problems as a team.”

NADIA MARIE SASSO (2013)
BUCKNELL UNIVERSITY ’11

Nadia Marie Sasso is the co-founder of Yehri Wi Cry, an organization that has distributed hundreds of birthing kits in Sierra Leone to improve birth and delivery rates and enhance the quality of life for women and children. Determined to have a long-term impact on the Sierra Leonean community in the African Diaspora, Nadia is pursuing a Ph.D. in Africana studies at Cornell University and she also holds a master’s degree from Lehigh University.

“When I got into college, it was the first time in my life that I realized that I could actually change the world — and I believed it. The quality of my life and the options that I have are because I was a Posse Scholar.”

MASON RICHARDS (2011)
VANDERBILT UNIVERSITY ’07

Mason Richards is a filmmaker with a deep commitment to telling the stories that often go unheard. His debut film, The Seawall, premiered at the world-renowned Cannes Film Festival in 2011, a triumph for any filmmaker and the culmination of a childhood dream for Mason.

“I always knew that if I was going to do medicine, I was going to do it my way. Posse taught me to take a chance, even when those avenues were not the typical way to go.”

ERICA SPATZ (2009)
VANDERBILT UNIVERSITY ’07

In 2008, Dr. Erica Spatz co-founded Project Access- New Haven, which provides timely access to medical care for people without insurance, and she continues to serve on its board. A Yale University faculty member in cardiovascular medicine as part of the Center for Outcomes Research and Evaluation, her research focuses on access to care and improving quality and outcomes in adults with cardiovascular disease.

“I have adopted a personal and professional mission to ensure young people graduate from college and exit prepared to not just find opportunities, but to also create those opportunities where needed. To not just name problems but to solve them. Most importantly, we teach our students how to solve problems as a team.”

Posse Career Program

Posse’s primary aim is to train the leaders of tomorrow. To that end, the Posse Career Program provides Posse Scholars and alumni with the tools and opportunities to secure the most competitive internships and leadership-track jobs in a variety of industries. Posse partners with exceptional companies and organizations worldwide and establishes affiliations with top graduate and professional schools. As Posse alumni, you may continue to take advantage of the array of Posse Career Program opportunities that can support you in your ongoing career journey. Here are a few of the ways that the Posse Career Program supports alumni throughout their careers:

PROFESSIONAL DEVELOPMENT

Each Posse site hosts winter and summer professional development workshops both virtually and in-person. While these workshops are typically targeted at undergraduate Scholars, many are open to alumni, and are a great way to sharpen your professional skills, engage with recruiters at industry-leading companies, and network with your Posse community. Keep an eye out for invitations from your Posse site, and make sure to update Posse if you move to a new city, so that you can be connected to Posse events in your new location!

CAREER COACHING

Posse’s Career Coaching Program provides Posse Scholars and alumni the opportunity to connect one-on-one with accomplished professionals who serve as personal career coaches. Coaches offer critical support to Scholars and alumni as they transition from being leaders on campus to being leaders in the workforce. Posse alumni are both eligible to sign up to have a Career Coach, as well as sign up to be a Career Coach for a current undergraduate Scholar. Log in to the Posse Portal today to get started with the Career Coaching program!

FULL-TIME JOB OPPORTUNITIES

Posse Scholars and alumni are in high demand across every industry vertical. Companies come to Posse for full-time recruitment because they know our Scholars and alumni enter the workforce with a multitude of academic, professional, and leadership skills. As with our paid internship opportunities, positions on the Posse Portal offer a direct line to hiring managers. For alumni in the job market (or just curious about what is available!) make sure to check the Posse Portal job listings page frequently, as new positions are posted every week. Additionally, keep an eye out for emails from Posse. These emails highlight opportunities at key partner companies and are a great way to stay abreast of new positions in a variety of industries.

NOW THAT I HAVE GRADUATED, HOW DO I BEST USE THE POSSE NETWORK TO HELP MY CAREER?

1. Make sure your profile on the Posse Portal is up to date. This includes ensuring your academic and work history are complete, as well as up to date with your contact information. The more information we have, the better we can identify appropriate opportunities for you as they become available.

2. Browse the Posse Portal for job opportunities. Posse posts full-time opportunities from National and site-based Career Partners, as well as positions from other industry-leading organizations. The Posse Portal has job opportunities for all points in your career, from entry-level to executive positions, and everywhere in between.

3. Get to know your Career Program Specialist. If you haven’t already, reach out to set up some time to chat with your CPS about your career goals. If you will be moving to a different city with a Posse office, get to know the Posse network in your new city. Even if you are not actively looking for a new job, staying in touch with your local Posse office is a great way to be the first to hear about networking opportunities, social events, and more!

4. Read your Posse newsletters. Stay up to date on fantastic opportunities through the alumni newsletter and other email communications. Newsletters will alert you to job opportunities, volunteer opportunities, professional development opportunities, and alumni networking events.

5. Connect your workplace to Posse. If your company is not already a Posse Career Partner, reach out to the Posse National Career Team to connect your workplace to Posse—the larger our network, the greater our reach!
National + International Fellowships

Posse Scholars and alumni are encouraged to take advantage of the many national and international fellowships available. Many of these offer funding for graduate school, opportunities to study abroad, and access to powerful professional networks around the world. We encourage Posse Scholars and alumni to apply to top fellowship programs that match their interests. Below is a list of fellowship programs Scholars and alumni might consider.

FOR MORE INFORMATION ABOUT NATIONAL AND INTERNATIONAL FELLOWSHIPS for which you may be eligible, please contact National Director of Graduate + Fellowship Programs NICOLE NOWBAHAR, PHD at FELLOWSHIPS@POSSEFOUNDATION.ORG.
Posse’s graduate school affiliates offer a limited number of scholarships for Posse Scholars and alumni each year. To be eligible for these scholarships, Scholars and alumni must apply to and be accepted into a full-time graduate program. Applicants must indicate that they are affiliated with The Posse Foundation, and, in some cases, a supplemental letter of support from Posse is required.

All programs provide at least one full-tuition scholarship, and any Posse Scholar or alum is eligible to apply. Although Posse cannot guarantee that all accepted Scholars/alumni will receive scholarships, other financial aid opportunities may be available. Posse Scholars and alumni who are interested in any of these scholarships must contact the national office before applying. Please email Posse’s national director of graduate and fellowship programs for more information and/or to indicate your interest at fellowships@possefoundation.org.

Carnegie Mellon University

School of Public Policy and Management and School of Information Systems and Management

Carnegie Mellon is a national research university located in Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania. The School of Public Policy and Management is one of the nation’s leading public policy research institutions and the School of Information Systems and Management consistently ranks among the world’s elite in information technology and management. The Heinz College is offering one full-tuition scholarship to a Posse alumna/us admitted to the MSPPM program, and tuition-reduction scholarships—covering between 30-50 percent tuition—to all Posse alumni who matriculate into a full-time master’s degree program.

Columbia University

Teachers College

Teachers College, Columbia University will award up to two full-tuition scholarships to Posse alumna/us enrolled in a full-time master’s degree program at Teachers College. Tuition will be provided for up to two years and will cover the credits required to achieve the degree. Some restrictions apply to credit intensive master’s programs. Applicants must plan to enroll for a Summer or Fall entry term. All Posse students who apply by the early deadline and click the Posse affiliation button on the online application will receive an application fee waiver and consideration for a full-tuition scholarship opportunity.

Cornell University

Cornell Law School

Cornell Law School will offer one full-tuition scholarship to a Posse alumna/us who is accepted to its J.D. program. The Cornell Law School Scholarship cannot be combined with any other scholarships or benefits that would exceed tuition and mandatory fees to Cornell Law School, with the exception of scholarships that are paid directly to the student, do not process through Cornell Law School, and do not otherwise affect the student’s financial aid qualifications.

Duke University

Fuqua School of Business

For over four decades, Duke University’s Fuqua School of Business has equipped its students with the skills, competences, and knowledge needed to navigate a dynamic global economy. A top-tier U.S. business school, Fuqua will offer one full-tuition scholarship to a Posse alumna/us accepted into the daytime M.B.A. program and one full-tuition scholarship to a Posse alumna/us accepted into the Master of Management Studies (MMS) program.

Johns Hopkins University

Krieger School of Arts and Sciences

Located in Baltimore, Maryland, the Zanvyl Krieger School of Arts and Sciences has a mission of discovery—the creation of new knowledge through research and scholarship, and the education of its students. Johns Hopkins will offer up to five full-tuition Ph.D. graduate fellowships (including a teaching assistantship or research assistantship, housing stipend and health insurance) to Posse alumni admitted into any of the 26 graduate programs of the Krieger School of Arts & Sciences.

Northeastern University

D’Amore-McKim School of Business

Northeastern University is a private research university in Boston, Massachusetts, and is a leader in experiential learning, urban engagement and interdisciplinary research that meets global needs. Northeastern’s M.B.A. program is known for its strength in global management and features a six-month corporate residency with a top business firm, providing students opportunities to actively manage important projects and interact directly with executives. Northeastern will provide one full-tuition scholarship each year for a Posse alumna/us admitted to the program.

Northwestern University

Kellogg School of Management and Pritzker School of Law

Located in and just outside of Chicago, Illinois, the Northwestern University Pritzker School of Law and Kellogg School of Management, respectively, are recognized as two of the top graduate programs in the United States. The Kellogg School of Management and Pritzker School of Law are each offering two full-tuition graduate scholarships to Posse alumni who are accepted into the full-time M.B.A. or J.D. programs.

Northwestern University

Kellogg School of Management and Pritzker School of Law

Located in and just outside of Chicago, Illinois, the Northwestern University Pritzker School of Law and Kellogg School of Management, respectively, are recognized as two of the top graduate programs in the United States. The Kellogg School of Management and Pritzker School of Law are each offering two full-tuition graduate scholarships to Posse alumni who are accepted into the full-time M.B.A. or J.D. programs.

The George Washington University

School of Business

The George Washington University School of Business (GWSB) will offer one full-tuition scholarship to a Posse alumna/us each year for the full-time MBA program. In addition, Posse applicants are eligible for consideration for partial tuition for other programs at GWSB, including the wide variety of certificate programs.

University of Cambridge

Department of Geography

The University of Cambridge will provide at least one full-tuition Studentship to a Posse alumna/us admitted to any full-time Master of Philosophy (MPhil) Programme in the Department of Geography. The department’s programs are excellent opportunities for Scholars with interests in environmental studies, geography and more. Additional support including maintenance, airfare, and visa support are also available.

Yale University

Yale School of the Environment

The Yale School of the Environment is offering at least one full-tuition fellowship for Posse alumni accepted into any of its full-time graduate programs. The internationally renowned school offers master’s degrees and doctoral programs that prepare graduates to address local, regional and global environmental issues. Joint degree programs with nine different schools at Yale are available to students with well-defined cross-disciplinary interests.
Frequently Asked Questions

TO QUALIFY FOR THE POSSE GRADUATE SCHOLARSHIP, DO I NEED TO ATTEND FULL-TIME?
Yes. To be eligible for these scholarships, Posse alumni must be accepted into the full-time graduate program. In most cases, the scholarship is only available for a maximum of two years of full-time graduate study.

TO QUALIFY FOR THE POSSE GRADUATE SCHOLARSHIP, DO I NEED TO CONTACT POSSE?
Yes. To be considered for a scholarship, applicants must contact the national director of graduate and fellowship programs at fellowships@possefoundation.org as soon as possible about their intent to apply and indicate in their application materials that they are Posse alumni. Posse is required to communicate with our graduate school affiliates about all potential applicants.

DOES POSSE PROVIDE TEST PREP SUPPORT?
The Posse Foundation doesn’t provide test prep support, but is proud to partner with the Princeton Review to offer discounts to Posse Scholars studying for graduate school exams including the GRE, GMAT, LSAT, MCAT and more. Contact fellowships@possefoundation.org.

AM I GUARANTEED A SCHOLARSHIP IF ACCEPTED INTO A PROGRAM?
Posse cannot guarantee that all alumni accepted into these programs will receive a scholarship. Scholarship decisions will be made by the graduate school affiliates during their traditional grant-awarding cycles after students have been accepted into full-time programs. This is a competitive process, and not all Posse alumni will be offered scholarships.

HOW CAN POSSE HELP WITH MY APPLICATION?
Posse provides its Scholars and alumni with the following graduate school services:

• Application Support: Posse will guide applicants through the application process, offering feedback, answering questions, and making connections to alumni where possible.

• Feedback on Essays: If provided with at least four weeks notice, Posse will review personal statements and statements of purpose and provide feedback/guidance.

• Letter of Recommendation and Supplemental Letter of Support: Recommendation letters should come from your best possible recommenders (academic, professional, etc.). Some Posse graduate school affiliates require an additional Supplemental Letter of Support, which should be coordinated with the national office. To see if your program requires a Supplemental Letter of Support, contact fellowships@possefoundation.org.

• Admissions Officers: Staff from the admissions offices at Posse’s graduate school affiliates are available to provide Scholars and alumni with additional information. Posse will connect its Scholars and alumni to these key contacts.

• Interview Prep: Although interviews may not be required, we encourage Scholars and alumni to interview if the opportunity is made available. Posse will offer an interview practice session ahead of your scheduled interview, as long as you provide at least two weeks notice. To schedule a session, contact fellowships@possefoundation.org.

Most graduate applications require the submission of GRE, LSAT or GMAT scores, academic transcripts, essays, letters of recommendation and a resume. Visit the Graduate School Affiliates’ websites for key deadlines and more information about each program.

All Graduate School Affiliates will provide full-tuition fellowships for one or two Scholars/alumni each year, except for Johns Hopkins, which will provide five. Some programs also provide additional funding in the form of graduate assistantships, stipends, etc.

If you would like to be considered for any of the fellowships, email Posse’s Graduate + Fellowship Program at fellowships@possefoundation.org.

Alumni donations show you believe in Posse and when you make a gift, it sends a clear message: Posse alumni value both the opportunities they were given and the importance of providing the same opportunities to new Scholars.

Right now, more than 3,000 Posse Scholars are on college campuses across the country having similar experiences to the ones you had on your campus, with your Posse, your mentor, your professors.

We hope we can count on your support help even more Scholars on their journeys from PCT to graduation and alumni induction.

Support the next generation of Posse Scholars!
