POSSE CHICAGO
Partner Colleges and Universities
Dear Posse Nominee:

Congratulations on your nomination for the Posse Scholarship. If you’re reading this, you’ve just completed your first-round interview. You were nominated for a reason, and we’re so glad to have met you in person.

Now that you know more about Posse, it’s going to be important for you to familiarize yourself with Posse’s partner colleges and universities so you can narrow down which schools you’d like to be considered for. If you advance to the next round as a semi-finalist, we’re going to ask you to let us know your top choice colleges or universities.

This booklet presents a brief profile of each Posse partner school. We hope you get excited about them; they are among the very best institutions of higher education in the United States. Take a look, but also research these schools further on your own.

Good luck and we’ll be in touch soon,
Posse
CONCEPT

Posse started in 1989 because of one student who said,

“I NEVER WOULD HAVE DROPPED OUT OF COLLEGE IF I HAD MY POSSE WITH ME.”

The Posse Foundation identifies public high school students with extraordinary academic and leadership potential who may be overlooked by traditional college selection processes. The Foundation extends to these students the opportunity to pursue personal and academic excellence by placing them in supportive, multicultural teams—Posses—of 10 students. The Foundation’s partner colleges and universities award Posse Scholars full-tuition leadership scholarships.

THREE GOALS

1. To expand the pool from which top colleges and universities can recruit outstanding young leaders from diverse backgrounds.

2. To help these institutions build more interactive campus environments so they can become more welcoming for people from all backgrounds.

3. To ensure that Posse Scholars persist in their academic studies and graduate so they can take on leadership positions in the workforce.

Agnes Scott College is a rare commodity—a small liberal arts college in a large metropolis. The result is a vibrant living-learning community of over 900 students on 100 tree-filled acres six miles from downtown Atlanta.

SUMMIT at Agnes Scott reinvents the liberal arts for the 21st century by integrating leadership development and global learning throughout a student’s four years.

Building on Agnes Scott’s history and strengths, SUMMIT prepares students to lead in a global society. Students read widely, write profusely and discuss ideas constantly, then make connections between and across everything they’ve studied. Are you ready to SUMMIT?

QUICK FACTS

» Through SUMMIT, all first-year students participate in immersive workshops to enhance their leadership skills and a one-week global travel experience (at no additional cost).

» Agnes Scott is an intentionally diverse campus, with students from 46 states and territories and 34 countries. Our population is 56 percent students of color, 7 percent international.

» Scotties gain professional experience through internships at Fortune 500 companies headquartered in Atlanta and at international, national and local non-profits. They also have many opportunities to participate in mentored research, including the Goizueta Foundation STEM Scholars program.

» Studies have shown that students who attend a women’s college hold higher positions, earn more advanced degrees and make more money in their careers than those from coeducational schools.

» Agnes Scott graduates go on to top-ranked graduate schools, including Columbia, Emory, Harvard, Oxford, and Yale—with a ninety-five percent acceptance rate in the class of 2017.
Connecticut College is one of the nation’s leading private, residential liberal arts colleges. Its 1,800 students live and learn on a 750-acre campus that offers historic granite architecture and views of Long Island Sound. The student-faculty ratio of 9:1 allows students a high level of interaction with faculty. Students choose from 56 majors, minors and interdisciplinary certificate programs. Conn offers a rigorous academic program with a history of excellence in environmental studies, international studies, the arts and community action. The College’s award-winning, four-year career development and internship program challenges students to make contributions to today’s interconnected world.

QUICK FACTS

» All Conn students are eligible for up to $3,000 to fund a summer internship or research opportunity between junior and senior year. Each year, nearly 80 percent of students participate.

» Conn varsity teams compete at the NCAA DIII level in the New England Small College Athletic Conference (NESCAC) against Amherst, Bates, Bowdoin, Colby, Hamilton, Middlebury, Trinity, Tufts, Wesleyan and Williams.

» Connecticut College is consistently recognized as a top producer of Fulbright scholars, with 38 students and young alumni awarded this prestigious international fellowship over the past six years.

» Recent graduates have attended graduate and professional schools at Brown, Columbia, Harvard, Duke, London School of Economics, MIT, NYU, Oxford, University of Chicago, Yale and other top schools.

» Conn graduates include a NASA astrophysicist, Commissioner for the U.S. Civil Rights Commission, CEO of Oath, publisher of Quartz, Warner Bros. executive and Olympic medalists.

One of the largest, most diverse institutions in the Ivy League, Cornell University is dedicated to a mission of teaching, research, and public engagement. It comprises 14 colleges and schools with undergraduate, graduate, and professional academic programs—in Ithaca, New York; New York City; and Doha, Qatar. Its newest campus, Cornell Tech in Manhattan, offers graduate engineering programs for technology entrepreneurs. On Cornell’s Ithaca campus, 21,500 students—including approximately 14,000 undergraduates—representing 120 countries choose from among 4,000 courses in 11 schools. Students are encouraged to explore options and chart their own directions. Cornell’s community also includes more than 250,000 alumni who live and work across the globe.

QUICK FACTS

» Forty-three Nobel laureates have been affiliated with Cornell as faculty members or alumni.
» In 2013, a record 28 students received Fulbright awards to research or teach abroad.
» Ten percent of undergraduates admitted to Cornell in 2013 are first in their families to go to college.
» Cornell’s entrepreneurship programs engage nearly 10,000 students, faculty and alumni each year in courses, workshops, meet-ups and incubators.
» In 2015, Cornell University celebrated the 150th anniversary of its founding—a time to reflect on its future in helping to make our world a better place.
Founded in 1837, DePauw University is a small, private, coed liberal arts college located in Greencastle, Indiana. Our campus houses both a College of Liberal Arts and School of Music. We encourage students to engage creatively and meaningfully with the world. Our curriculum includes one global learning experience, two experiential learning opportunities, and one course about power, privilege and diversity. Our small class sizes and student-faculty ratio promote an atmosphere of collaboration and curiosity. According to U.S. News & World Report, we’re ranked as one of the top 50 liberal arts colleges in the country.

QUICK FACTS

» DePauw offers 48 majors and 52 minors.
» Nearly 70% of our students study abroad.
» 8:1 student-faculty ratio and average class size of 15-17 students.
» DePauw is home to one of the oldest rivalries in college football history.
» Dr. Lori S. White, DePauw’s new president, is the first woman and first person of color to serve in that position.
Middlebury College provides students with a rigorous liberal arts education and a wide range of opportunities to pursue interests and experiences outside the classroom. From the sciences to the humanities, from the social sciences to the arts, Middlebury encourages students to seek out ways to make a meaningful contribution in a world that is increasingly global and complex. Located in Middlebury, Vermont, the campus is considered one of the most beautiful in New England, and fosters a spirit of intense, personal education. It is justly praised as one of the top liberal arts colleges in the United States.

QUICK FACTS

» Middlebury was the first college to grant a degree to an African-American, Alexander Twilight in 1823.
» The student body consists of 2,500 undergraduate students from all 50 states and 72 countries.
» The College operates schools abroad in 17 countries and 37 sites.
» About 97 percent of students live on campus in coed dorms and houses grouped into neighborhoods called Commons.
» The Middlebury Panthers have won 35 NCAA national team championships in the last 20 years.
Think one person can change the world? So do we. From its founding in 1833, Oberlin has been at the forefront of history, becoming the first college in America to adopt a policy to admit students of color and the first to award degrees to women in a coeducational program. Students here apply nanotechnology to killing cancer cells; compose original plays and music; and devise new ways to sustain the environment. Oberlin’s learning community combines a top-ranked liberal arts college, a prestigious music conservatory, and one of the finest academic art museums in the country—on a single campus.

QUICK FACTS

» Our student body of 2,900 includes 6 percent from in-state, 86 percent out-of-state, 8 percent from abroad, and 25 percent people of color.

» Oberlin offers 50 majors in the College of Arts and Sciences and eight in the Conservatory of Music.

» Oberlin has 175 student organizations, 21 varsity sport teams, 500 concerts and recitals, a variety of film series and national speakers, and about 40 theater and dance productions each year. Sixty-three percent of students participate in community service, and 75 percent study abroad.

» Students can choose from a variety of housing styles: traditional residence halls; program houses centered around a culture or language; or co-ops, in which students run the household and share meal prep.

» Seventy percent of graduates further their education within five years of graduating, and 83 percent enter the workforce immediately. Finally, more Oberlin alumni go on to earn Ph.D.s than do the graduates of any other primarily undergraduate college.
One of a small number of institutions that practice need-blind admissions and meet 100% of students’ financial need, Pomona is a highly diverse, close-knit community of scholars, scientists, entrepreneurs and artists who are passionate about making a difference in the world. As the founding member of The Claremont Colleges, Pomona offers students over 2,500 course options across the 5-college consortium and the resources of a larger university. With a student-faculty ratio of 8 to 1, students work closely with their professors in the classroom, lab and field. Our location near L.A. provides excellent opportunities for professional internships and cultural activities.

QUICK FACTS

» Over half of Pomona students are domestic students of color. They come from 50 states and 60 countries. Nearly 20% are first-generation.

» Funding for internships and research is available. 58% do research with faculty; 89% do an internship, and over 70% complete more than one internship.

» 2,700 classes are available through cross-registration at The Claremont Colleges. More than 80% take classes at Scripps, Claremont McKenna, Harvey Mudd and Pitzer Colleges, all walking distance of Pomona.

» Pomona students succeed: 93% graduate within 6 years, and 81% pursue an advanced degree within 10 years of graduation.
Trinity College is a small, private liberal arts college in the heart of the capital city of Hartford, Connecticut. Trinity’s urban location and global reach drive students to engage in the liberal arts with a spirit of innovation and independence, all while preparing to face the world boldly and become leaders in their fields. With a student-to-faculty ratio of 9:1, more than 900 courses across 41 majors and 28 interdisciplinary minors, and 30 men’s and women’s athletic teams in NCAA Division III Conference, students will find an innovative learning environment that is consistently ranked among the nation’s best colleges.

QUICK FACTS

» Trinity’s 2,098 students hail from 47 states and 68 countries, with 90 percent of undergraduates living on the beautiful, historic 100-acre campus in residence halls, apartments, and theme houses.

» Trinity’s student population is composed of 50 percent men and 50 percent women, with 21 percent students of color; approximately 64 percent of students receive financial aid.

» 52 percent of students participate in a wide variety of study-abroad or study-away programs at Trinity’s eight international sites and more than 90 Trinity-approved programs.

» Special programs for first-year students include orientation, mentoring, and academic resources that ensure students are prepared for success at Trinity right from the start.

» 65 percent of Trinity’s alumni hold an advanced degree within 10 years of graduating, and more than half of alumni pursue careers in education, law, management, health and sciences, communication, and finance.
The University of Michigan is one of the great public research universities of the U.S., located in vibrant Ann Arbor. Since 1817, U-M has been a global model of a diverse, comprehensive academic institution—one of the top 25 universities in the world. Nineteen undergraduate schools and colleges offer more than 275 degree programs and more than 4,000 courses. Students study the liberal arts and the sciences in a spirited, cross-disciplinary environment that encourages inquiry in the classroom and in undergraduate research, with a 15:1 student/faculty ratio. More than 580,000 living alumni infuse the U-M ethos and traditions around the globe.

QUICK FACTS

» From its earliest years, Michigan has built a substantial history of and dedication to diversity, admitting the first African-American student in 1853 and the first female student in 1870.

» The intellectual environment is rigorous and stimulating, where students are well-supported with thoughtful resources like the Comprehensive Studies Program, Sweetland Writing Center, Math Lab, tutoring, and peer mentors.

» Engagement outside the classroom presents itself with the thrill of Big Ten athletics, opportunities in 1,600 student clubs and organizations, 13 living-learning communities for students with shared interests, and community service.

» 98% of freshmen live on campus. All freshmen who apply for housing by the application deadline are guaranteed a space in a residence hall.

» Student satisfaction is high; 97% of freshmen return for sophomore year, and 80% graduate in four years (versus 36% nationally).

University of Michigan offers only science, technology, engineering and math (STEM) Posse Scholarships.
Established in 1848, the University of Wisconsin–Madison is a place where exceptional academic performance flourishes. Today, more than 43,000 students from all 50 states and over 130 countries are proud Badgers.

The faculty and academic resources deliver a powerful education. Offering more than 4,000 courses in over 140 undergraduate majors, we work with you to explore your full academic potential.

Outside of class, take part in intramural and club sports, and a range of artistic, music, and cultural events. Cheer on the 23 Division I varsity teams competing in Big Ten athletics.
